Dear Mr. Lee Williams,

I am writing to express my interest in the job vacancy demonstrated in your website for “Senior Backend Engineer (Java) - Zalando Payments”. I came across to Zalando site for job seeking which one of my friends introduced; and as I surfed your precious website I would be more and more convinced and eager to apply for this job.

I am currently majoring in dev-ops and backend development and have good experiences in system architecture and designs. I was part of some startups and small ICT businesses in past couple of years. What I love in startups atmosphere is the knowledge-based community and the agile and heap attitudes, which cause participating and helping each other to achieve the most; which I think the essence of the Open-Source philosophy. The team work means a lot to me and I always want to be a part of a pioneering one, as ones you’ve got and developed in your company, to learn as much as I can, yet pay my shares too.

I’ve started to learning Java2EE and some of its related technologies all by myself several years ago, since I am a self learner and want to achieve the most data through various resources, to employ the best and more efficient solutions in the projects I work on; I’ve been working in some software companies as a developer, system architect and project manager. On an on, I tried to be part of the startups Java communities to learn and teach more since then.

I am also familiar with dev-ops principles and tasks to setup and maintain the services, which are needed for development and deployment; and I’ve added many features like CI/CD, Load Balancing, Dockerizing, log monitoring and so on to the projects I’ve been in-charge and part of it.

Because I am fond of different cultures and the ways people around the world’s living, I tried to learn some other languages beside the English; amongst them the German. As you may guess, I’ve learnt it all by myself, however I’m at the beginning of it. Being with you guys, would be a great opportunity to be in a profound culture, so I can adapt and learn as much as I can from your precious civilization.

I would like the opportunity to meet with you to discuss technical roles and seats you have available. Please let me know if you have any questions or would like to see specific work samples. You surely can reach me by phone +98-912-245-2158 or by email at emad.mokhatab@gmail.com.

Many thanks for your time and consideration!

Sincerely,

Emad Mokhatab
